SOME OF OUR COMPANIES are calling attention to the fact as a little cursor that Governor Brown, of Missouri, has not issued a Thanksgiving proclamation. Probably Grant does not think he has any reason to be thankful.

The Baltimore Gazette has heard from this city, through some mysterious channel, that General Grant intends to visit Europe next June, and that, during his absence, the duties of the Presidency will be discharged by Mr. Wilson. The Gazette should stimulate its neighbor, the New, and not give currency to sensational and untrue reports merely for sensational's sake.

THE CONTENT for United States Senator in North Carolina is exceedingly close. Governor Holden has received 78 votes.

Judge Poole, a veritable report was made, and the master of the house of character enough to burden our columns with it. In criticism, we have adopted the truth-telling principle. It is somewhat new in Washington, but an enlightened public opinion will only be too glad to sustain it. Worth and talent on the rostrum, on the stage, and in the concert-room will be properly commended. When a lack of it appears, and whence they could treat her as frequent, they cause in crowds to claim their clamor.

The Evening Star of yesterday thus graciously affords to our enterprise:

THE BRITISH MAKES a handsome appearance in its new dress to-day, entering upon its thirtieth anniversary. With the exception of the Star, which is some ten years its senior, the British is now the oldest paper in Washington.

No one can deny that the paper is a good one to do with.

When Mr. Hendricks assumes the gubernatorial chair of Indiana next January, his place in the sun will be assured, but a long time to come.
